.3.Win64 Schlumberger.Q: How do I use the.NET Lambda

Compiler to build a DLL, and then to use that DLL from outside my project? I'm totally new to writing code with C# and.NET and I've run into a problem I don't know how to solve. I'm trying to take the.NET Lambda Compiler

(Lambda.NET) and use it to create a DLL which I can use from other.NET C# projects. I created the following C# source code, which produces an empty DLL. However, when I try to run it, and in the console I type d0c515b9f4
